Uncovering Our History

The Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians will be celebrating our 125th Anniversary in 2019. Now is the time we should look back and remember our proud history. I had the privilege of visiting the America Irish Historical Society, the New York Public Library, and the American Catholic History Research Center and University Archives at Catholic University. Historical Records of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians can be found at many different sites: American Irish Historical Society, Burns a Library Boston College, Catholic History Research Center Catholic University, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Irish American Archives Society of Cleveland, New York Public Library, New York State Irish American Heritage Museum, Seton Hall, University of Notre Dame, and in many national, local and Diocesan newspapers. We are lucky that some early information on Irish America is available digitally on the Villanova website which includes the Gaelic American and the Clan na Gael papers. With the rest of the information scattered between sites, it is very unfortunate when trying to do research. The LAOH is fortunate that Past President Dorothy Weldon arranged that the Burns Library of Boston College would be the site for the LAOH Archives. I encourage all of our Divisions, Counties, States and any member to please donate items of LAOH historical interest to this archive. In preparation for our 125th Anniversary, I will be sharing some of the interesting history that was found during my visits. Our Order is also privileged that some of our History was written by John O'Dea, Sally Murphy and Mary B Dolan. Past President Sally Murphy's History from our beginning till the 100th Anniversary is located on both the National and State of Maryland's websites. I hope to include some of Past President Mary B Dolan's History in future newsletters. I also would like to thank Sara Benz Rhode Island for her research locally on Ellen Ryan Jolly. Our LAOH history is a long and proud one. We need all of our members to share this history. Please send me the History of your Divisions, Counties, and States so that this history can be shared.

As we remember the Women of 1916, we also need to honor and remember the History of Our Order and our early leaders. At the 1894 Ancient Order of Hibernians Convention held in Omaha, Nebraska, the Daughters of Erin were organized. The AOH National Vice President chaired the Committee on the Auxiliary which directed the affairs of this new organization. The first Division in the country was in the State of Minnesota. During the early years, the Daughters of Erin functioned as State Organizations. "In 1900 in Boston, Massachusetts a committee was appointed to confer with the brothers to suggest changes in the rituals and by-laws and to request permission to elect a National Board of Officers for the Ladies' Auxiliary. The request to elect National Officers was denied, but a sign of recognition between the two organizations was allowed and it was agreed that biennial National Conventions be held in conjunction with the AOH with sessions presided over by the AOH National Vice President. In 1902 in Denver, Colorado a National Advisory Board consisting of three members of the Daughters of Erin were elected. Mrs. Mary Quinn of Illinois was elected chairman and served until 1906 when the brothers granted the power of self-government.

Saratoga Convention from National Hibernian 1906

SARATOGA.
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 5.
Editor National Hibernian:
The first milestone of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Division No. 4, A. O. H., Saratoga County, has just been passed, and we are about to celebrate the event by tendering a grand ecstase party and dance as our "First Annual" affair.

Owing to the fact that the National Convention meets in our beautiful Saratoga, the parlor of summer resorts in America, we feel that it is but courtesy to introduce our Auxiliary to sister organizations, and, esteeming your valuable paper as we do, we think there is no better way to do this than through the columns of The National Hibernian.

Our Auxiliary was organized April 10, 1905, by our worthy County President, Elizabeth M. Barrett, and through the earnest efforts of our esteemed Brother, Division President Michael J. Mulqueen and his able officers and members. On that day thirty-five noble daughters of Erin pledged their loyalty to the cause and launched out into the sea of Hibernianism.

At first it was rather uphill work so during the Revolutionary War; also current topics, interspersed with music. The social functions consisted of a series of card parties, progressive euchre, being played, and two prizes were awarded to those who won the greatest number of games during the series. No one but members of both Orders and new candidates for same were eligible for entrance. Occasionally we gave a special prize for new members only, in the form of an emblem pin.

In this way we catered, to and interested the young people of both sexes. As a result Division No. 4 soon initiated a large class, and our Order secured fifty-six new members by February 22. On that date the degree team of the Auxiliary to Division No. 1 of Glens Falls, under the supervision of Miss Margaret McSweeney, their President, came to Saratoga and exemplified the degrees in a very able manner. We were so impressed by the excellent work of this degree team that we at once organized two degree teams, a regular and an emergency team, and after earnest work and many rehearsals can now boast of two well-drilled teams and a new regalia.

On February 27 last our County President and officers organized an Auxiliary in Mechanville. Forty-three members joined on the first day, and on April 10 we gave the degrees, when ninety-five members were initiated, thus showing that Mechanville, too, must be leading the strenuous life. Our Order is constantly increasing.

OHIOHIO CONVENTION CALL
Ancient Order of Hibernians in America,
Office of National President, Syracuse,
N. Y., May 21, 1906.
To all Officers and Members:

BROTHERS:—Under the provisions of Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution, it becomes our duty to call the accredited delegates to attend the 45th National Convention to be opened in Convention Hall, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on Tuesday, July 17, 1906. Your attention is called to Article III, Section 1, covering the matter of representation at the forthcoming 45th national gathering of our Order.

Through the courtesy of the following railroad associations the cost of transportation is equal to one fare and a third for the round trip, via:

Trunk Line Association, New England Passenger Association, Central Passenger Association, Southeastern Passenger Association, Western Passenger Association, O. H. Southwestern Passenger Bureau, Eastern Canadian Passenger Association.

In the extreme West and Northwest a low rate of fare for summer travel should be available. In the territory of the Associations above named tickets are good going July 12-18 and returning from close of Convention to July 25. When buying ticket at starting point, delegates should ask for standard certificate, stating their purpose of attending Convention.

The coming National gathering will be one of the most important in our history. Its deliberations will mark an epoch in the history of our beloved Society. Hence we cordially invite and urge every State and County officer entitled to sit in the Convention to assist by his presence and counsel.

The Brotherhood of Saratoga and the great Empire State, through M. J. Mulqueen, Chairman Convention Committee, have arranged a very attractive and interesting program, and extend a hearty invitation to all members who can do so to attend the Convention.

On Thursday evening a complimentary banquet will be tendered the delegates.

The opening day will be marked by a Solemn High Mass at 10 a.m., at which it is expected National Chaplain Most Rev. John M. Farley will pontificate, a parade in which uniformed bodies and divisions will participate, and a public meeting at which orators of international fame will speak.

Delegates are reminded that credentials should be mailed to National Secretary so as to avoid confusion at opening of Convention.

The Grand Union Hotel (largest in the world) has been selected as headquarters. The Convention Committee have procured reasonable rates from all hotels. All delegates should communicate with our delay with M. J. Mulqueen, Saratoga, N. Y., stating number of rooms desired, etc.

Saratoga being one of America's fashionable resorts it may be pardonable to suggest to delegates, whenever convenient, to bring their evening suits.

The past term of your national officers has witnessed many marked changes for the betterment of our organization, and we anticipate with pleasure the prospect of greeting the delegates to the 45th National Convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The Auxiliary Assembly Committee of the Division at Saratoga has worked untiringly during the past two years to prepare for the entertainment of their Sisters during Convention week. They have one of the largest Auxiliaries in America, and are very desirous of a good attendance.

Part of program will be a solemn High Mass at St. Peter's Church, at which our National Chaplain, Most Rev. John M. Farley, will pontificate, a parade and a public meeting on the opening day.

The headquarters will be at the Grand Union. Attached is a list of the hotels at the most fashionable health resort in the United States. Those desiring accommodations should communicate with M. J. Mulqueen, Chairman, Saratoga, N. Y.

National Vice-President James O'Sullivan will call the assembly to order. In view of the great progress made by the Auxiliary during past two years, it is important that every State, Province and Territory be fully represented.

Looking forward with pleasure to an enthusiastic gathering of the representative Irish Catholic women of the land, we remain, Mrs. Quinn then introduced Mr. Mathew Cummings, who was greeted with prolonged applause.

Address of National President Cummings.

Mr. Cummings then addressed the Assembly, saying that he thanked the Auxiliary for its support, and said he realized that the ladies had a great deal to do with his election. He spoke of our self-government in organization affairs, and said he would do all in his power to aid us when called upon to do so; that he had not followed the convention of the A. O. H. very closely, as he had been very busy about his election, but he knew the retiring President had recommended the wiping out of our National Board. He stated that it was now his purpose to make our National Officers an actual board, not a non-entity nor a figurehead. "All my communications to the Auxiliary will be through your National Officers," he said. "I will do the best for the organization in every way that it is possible for me to do. I realize the work of the Auxiliary and the good it is doing. I would like to see an Auxiliary in every town and city in this country." Mr. Cummings spoke of the great good that we could do from a religious standpoint, and cited instances of prominent wealthy Irishwomen who had married non-Catholics, and said that he thought if they had belonged to our Auxiliary it would help to cure these matters to a large extent. He stated that our Auxiliary was composed of the highest and purest type of Irish women. He said,

...Father Kennedy then addressed the Assembly, saying he considered it an honor to address the Ladies' Auxiliary and that he intended to come over to see them, even though he had not been requested to do so in place of President Cummings. He congratulated the ladies on having gained what we were anxiously waiting for—self government—and said he thought it would tend to strengthen us in our membership, and that as National Chaplain of the Order he would be ever ready to render us counsel and aid. He urged us to work for the cause of religion, fulfill our duties as Catholics and as true members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Address of Miss Malia, National President.

The National President of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H. then addressed the Assembly, as follows:

"Esteemed National Chaplain, Retiring National President of the Advisory Board and Sisters: It is with feelings of great pride, and yet great hesitation, that I accept this very honorable office conferred on me. Receiving it at your hands without any solicitation on my part shows the confidence you place in me. When the members of the National Advisory Board, of which I had the honor of being Secretary, asked the National Board of the A. O. H. for more freedom in matters pertaining to our Auxiliary, and that we might have the handling of our own finances, we were told that we would never be granted that request, for, if we were, we would be 'out of business' in two years. When our request came before the A. O. H. Convention it was granted by an almost unanimous vote of that intelligent body, and it now rests with us to show what we can do in the next two years. With my able colleagues in office, and with your individual support, dear sisters, there is no doubt but that we can manage the Ladies' Auxiliary affairs to the satisfaction of our brothers and the Auxiliary. This is one of the proudest moments of my life, dear sisters, and no woman is prouder of her position today than I. For the position of National President of such a noble Irish, Catholic organization is an honorable one. I thank you for placing me at the head of it, and I shall try to do my best at all times for the benefit of the Order, and if at the close of my term I have not measured up to the standard you would wish I trust you will throw the veil of charity over my shortcomings. Again I thank you for your friendship, and will conclude by saying would not exchange tonight one flower

Sketches and Portraits of Those Now in Office, With Notes of Their Work for Hibernianism.

(From the "History of the A. O. H. and L. A." by JOHN O'DEA.)

MISS B. A. MAHONEY,
National Vice-President of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Bridget Agnes Mahoney is a native of Hancock, Mich. Her father, John Mahoney, a native of Cork, was an enthusiastic reader of Irish history, and was especially familiar with the contribution made by Irish genius and valor to the upbuilding of this nation. Her mother, Mary Doherty, was born in County Kerry, and was a woman of strong purpose and high-minded character.

upon her fine intellect. Under her faithful and conscientious management the moral and intellectual growth of students has been remarkable.

MRS. ADELIA CHRISTY,
National Secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Adelia Christy was born September 9, 1873, in Washington, N. J. Her father was James N. Thompson, born in Sumnerville, N. J., the son of Peter Thompson, a native of Philadelphia, whose mother, Margaret Nixon, of Monahan, Ireland, born a Protestant, became a convert to Catholicism and trained her children in her own religion. Mrs. Christy's mother was Ellen Hayes, born in Waterford, Ireland, whose father was John Hayes and mother Bridget Wilson, both of Waterford. Mrs. Christy was educated by the Sisters of St. Joseph, Cleveland, Ohio, and resides with her husband, William J. Christy, and one son, at 7401 Twelfth avenue, Cleveland. She is a member of the L. C. B. A. and has been President, County and National Secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Mrs. Adelia Christy is loved in thousands of homes in her sanguine spirit and large intellect. No difficulty never fails to inspire her correspondent with confidence. She has many activities, finds real pleasure in hard work and her chief recreation is reading. She was re-elected at Norfolk, this being her third election.

MRS. MARY C. CONNELLY,
National Treasurer of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Mary Connelly was born June 11, 1874, in Syracuse, N. Y. Her father was William H. Faherty, of Goldens, County Tipperary, Ireland, a son of John Faherty and Ann Farrell. Her mother was Margaret Thomas Griffin, daughter of Michael Griffin and Mary Murphy, of Thurles, Tipperary. Her girlhood education was obtained in the public schools and in the Syracuse High School. She has had business place in the affairs of the Ladies' Auxiliary since 1912 and was elected at the Norfolk Convention in 1914. Among the offices held in other societies have been, the Presidency of Dunham St. Ladies' Circle, Society of St. Anne, which she has held for eight years, and the Presidency of St. Vincent de Paul, L. C. B. A. for the last four years. She is also at 425 Upper Street, Syracuse, with her two children, Mary Louise and Margaret Patricia, her husband, James Connelly, being deceased. Her selfless nature finds full scope in her association, for she is a business woman, being a selling agent for ladies' suits and clothes. As a National official of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Connelly contributes that variety which is the spice of life to the organization. If other officers are oppressed with the heavy responsibility of office and grown weary with toil, it is her pleasant duty to distribute enough sunshine to lighten the gloom and pry of the burden of

MRS. ELLEN RYAN JOLLY,
National President Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H.

Mrs. Ellen Ryan Jolly, who was re-elected unanimously at the Norfolk Convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary, has had a notable career in Hibernianism. She has been interested with many positions of responsibility and has discharged every trust with profit to the Auxiliary and honor to herself. She rendered valuable service as National Chairman of Irish History, and her enthusiastic energy in this work resulted in winning the highest appreciation of the well informed Auxiliary officials throughout the country and her election to the National Presidency at the Chicago Convention in 1912 was due in great measure to satisfaction with her intelligent direction of the Irish history movement. She is one of the most sanguine and patriotic ladies who have ever held office in the Auxiliary. Although born in America, and having never had an opportunity during her busy life to look upon the green land which she loves so ardently, she is yet Irish in the Irish-Irish in spirit, Irish in education, full of the fire, buoyancy and eloquence of the race. Her home is in Pawtucket, R. I., but her activities extend over all the western hemisphere. In Irish and Catholic circles she has long taken such a foremost and prominent part that her name in those circles has become almost a household word in many thousand homes in the United States and Canada. As National President of the Auxiliary and as a personal influence in other fields of endeavor Mrs. Jolly is determined to strive toward implanting the very highest Irish ideals into the national life of the communities on this continent. Her experience has enabled her to perceive the methods best adapted to advance our cause, and in the fields of Catholic education and Irish advancement her skill and success have never been surpassed by any Auxiliary official, and are acknowledged by the keenest observers. It is anticipated that the splendid National Auxiliary will continue to advance in power during her administration.

acter. With such paternal and maternal influences it is not strange that the daughter should devote a noble life to the service of the wretched children of motherland. Miss Mahoney was educated in the public schools, and in her clear mind all the instruction imparted was classified for use, and not for ornament. Her habits of industry arise from a determination to achieve, and those who have observed her career in the Auxiliary realize that her tremendous power of accomplishment is reinforced by large resources of information, acquired from books and from contact with human beings. She has been identified with the Auxiliary of Michigan since its founding, and her name is known throughout the United States among officers and members of the Auxiliary almost as well as the name of her State. Indeed, it is difficult to think of the Michigan Auxiliary without automatically associating also the name of Miss Mahoney. For four years she was State Vice-President of Michigan, twelve years State President; was elected National Vice-President at Chicago in 1912, and re-elected at Norfolk in 1914. Her chief enthusiasm finds expression in the education of the young and the promotion of the cause of the Ladies' Auxiliary. No curriculum can be too fervid in describing her work for the Auxiliary. During her term as State President of Michigan the membership rose from 1500 to 3500. The State Auxiliary treasury, empty when she took office, contained $12,000 when she retired. She fostered the insurance feature, which, during eighteen years in the State, owes much to her management and sagacity. As a teacher and principal she is one of the most efficient, and her success has been declared by experts to rest upon her real love for the children as much as is so complex as to damp her courage and optimism and no situation disturbs her equanimity. Not only does the bright side of life display itself to her calm outlook, but the most gloomy pessimism vanishes unobserved before her humor. At kinds of members and officials are needed in the upbuilding of the higher civilization and in the societies which are the organized units of nations and communities. The propagators of misfortune and the breeders of calamity exist in families, in governments and in commerce, but have never flourished in the Ladies' Auxiliary, and while Mrs. Christy remains at the council board they will remain as invisible as hares. No pessimistic prophecies of dissolution would venture to present herself before Mrs. Christy because she would place her before a typewriter and set her to work building up the Ladies' Auxiliary.

As National Secretary her enthusiastic communication itself to her associates and even in her letters, sent to distant points throughout the continent, there is a sanguine quality which
