Financial Aid - "Need-Blind" and "Need-Based"

Admission to Notre Dame is "need-blind" for U.S. citizens and permanent residents. This means students are admitted to the University on the basis of their academic and personal records of achievement, not their financial circumstances. Notre Dame is one less than 60 universities in the nation that has committed to offering financial assistance that is designed to meet the full demonstrated financial need of each student.

In the 2021-2022 academic year, the University budget is $183.4M for need-based scholarships to undergraduate students. Approximately 48% of the 2021-2022 freshmen received some form of need-based scholarship assistance from the University. Of the freshmen who enrolled in the fall of 2021 who demonstrated financial need, the average amount of University scholarship awarded was approximately $46,000.

Financial need is the difference between the estimated cost of attendance for the school year and the estimated family contribution. Because several factors in this evaluation are subject to change from one year to the next, this evaluation is made annually for each student who applies for financial aid.

Standard Cost of Attendance for 2021-2022

Tuition and Fees	$58,843
Room and Meals*	$16,304
Books and Supplies	$1,250
Personal Expenses	$1,200
Transportation	$750
Total Cost:	$78,347

*Typical residence hall accommodations provide for housing with one or more roommates. The current cost of a single room (no roommate) is approximately $500 more annually.

Because of its national student body traditionally enrolled at the University, the transportation allowance will generally range currently from a minimum of $500 to about $1,000 with $750 representing the approximate midpoint.

In addition to the direct costs, each student should plan for the cost of books, supplies, transportation, and personal expenses. Annual increases should be anticipated.
