President's Message

Mary Ann Lubinsky

I am so excited to write that tomorrow I will be joining some of my LAOH sisters on the 2025 FFAI trip. This will be my first trip to Ireland!

I hope everyone had a wonderful St. Patrick's Week!

Last week, just prior to St. Patrick's Day, I was very fortunate to attend several events in Washington, DC including a reception for the Taoiseach at the Ambassador's Residence, the Washington Ireland Program Breakfast with the US Capitol Dome in the background on one side and the Washington Monument on the other! That evening, I attended the White House event for the Taoiseach with AOH President Sean Pender. Following that we had also been invited by the Taoiseach to attend a reception at the Blair House. On Thursday, March 13, it was the Northern Ireland Bureau Breakfast. Needless to say, it was a very busy few days!

On Saturday, March 15, I was honored to be the Grand Marshal of the 2025 Leo F. Haley St. Patrick's Day Parade in my hometown of Pottsville.

I got to share the spotlight with some Pottsville Firefighters who were recognized for their saving the life of a woman last year. I was certainly in special company.

In just a little more than three weeks, it will be Holy Week, a very solemn time to recall the Passion and Death of Our Lord Jesus Christ. I hope that you will attend as many services as you can and that you have a Blessed and Happy Easter.

In case you have not yet heard, the 2025 LAOH National Interim Board Meeting will be held September 13, 2025, in Camp Hill, Pennsylvania.

As promised, this issue we will be highlighting Relatives For Justice. RFJ helps families who are coping with bereavement and injury through conflict-related violence and the following trauma. Some of the help they provide includes counseling, classes, casework support, and family support programs. Their counseling advocacy helps with investigations of conflict related harms. They also provide support to individuals seeking reparation such as those provided by Victims and Survivors Services as well as helping with appeals.

The following is from their website with a link to find out more.

Relatives for Justice Core Values

- An active commitment to universal human rights and social justice
- The promotion of equality and respect for the background, diversity and experience of all those bereaved and injured by the conflict
- The application and development of the highest standards of professional support programs for victims and survivors of the conflict
- The promotion of recognition and remedy for the specific gender harms and experiences of the bereaved and injured of the conflict

LAOH Committee on Irish Unity News

Dolores Desch

The LAOH National Irish Unity Committee was front and center volunteering at the Friends of Sinn Féin Commission on the Future of Ireland held in January in Washington DC and Rockland, NY. These events were hosted by the Executive Director of FOSF Greg O'Loughlin and Sinn Féin Representative to America Ciarán Quinn. Delaware LAOH President Kathi Twohig-Hamelin was the Washington DC local contact and volunteer coordinator, and NYS FFAI Chair Joan Moore took on that role in Rockland. Kathi and Joan were instrumental in working with the hosting site in ensuring that there were enough volunteers and that check-in was seamless.

There was a great buzz around the room before during and after the event with attendees energized to learn about the latest efforts and progress towards Irish Unity. Attendees were from several different organizations or none. The cross section of the Irish diaspora led to interesting discussion.

The program included an address by John Finucane MP (Sinn Fein) where he provided the background for the latest efforts and why Irish Unity has become such a popular topic in the past few years. John pointed to Brexit as the catalyst. The Good Friday Agreement provides for a border poll if there appears to be a majority who would vote for Unity. The British Secretary of State would be the person who could set the date of a referendum. We talked about the need to plan for this so that when there is a referendum, voters will be informed, and a plan will be in place when it passes.

There was also a fireside chat featuring discussion and a Q &A component with John Finucane that was led by Kathy Twohig-Hamelin in Washington and Irish Unity Chair Dolores Desch in Rockland. John explained that this program is specifically designed to be held in smaller venues with people who are champions of Irish Unity and can help advance this cause in their own way. The group discussion at tables fostered not only discussion but sharing of ideas and information. The differences in personal experiences and organizational culture of those in attendance was refreshing and led to networking and a need for future discussions such as these.

The ask from Sinn Fein for all of us is to get involved and keep the discussion going. Whether you live here or in Ireland, continue to bring up the subject of Irish Unity. Follow the news on Irish Unity and get involved. The more it is discussed the bigger the movement becomes. There will be a follow up set of zoom meetings to continue the discussion.

If you are interested in updates regarding Irish Unity, please send an email to our Irish Unity Chairperson

Dolores Desch at laohirishunity@gmail.com.

Thank you to everyone who promoted and encouraged participation in the National History Contest. This year there were 38 entries between the two levels. It is more important than ever as an Organization that we continue to promote and encourage the youth of today to learn about Irish History.

Information on the next History Contest is up on the website and has been sent to the State Historians. Please familiarize yourself with the new deadlines that were voted on at the Orlando Convention. The topic is The Irish and the American Revolution--- how the Irish affected the outcome of the American Revolution. As we celebrate the semiquincentennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, our contest will have participants learning about the Members of the LAOH Division 21 gathered for a Christmas dinner on Dec. 10 in the DePalma Room of St. Paul of the Cross parish. It was a festive night, with the room decorated by division president Trish Conley, and good food, with a catered dinner and sweets prepared by the members. Members brought white socks to be donated to the local Red Door ministry for the homeless. They also took up a collection for the Jessie Games, an event benefiting children and families served by Catholic Charities and started by one of the division's members in honor of her daughter. After dinner, members played a fun pass-the-bag game, with everyone receiving a surprise grab bag with small gifts inside. As always, members gave thanks for their Friendship, Unity and Christian Charity.

On Feb. 2, nine members of Division 21 attended the St. Brigid Mass at Salvatore's Event Center. The beautiful mass and delicious brunch were organized by the LAOH Allegheny County Board and celebrated by Fr. Rege Ryan, who happened to be a childhood friend of Div. 21 member, Peggy Bond. Fr. Ryan spoke beautifully about being grandparents and parents, waiting with patience and hope, and being filled with trust and faith when we are tested by things happening around us. He also blessed throats after mass. A collection was taken for the Blessed Home Project, which helps veterans, older adults, caretakers and others during challenging times. Petitions were offered for those who suffered losses in recent tragedies, those afflicted by poverty, war or sickness and for the leaders of the nation that they would promote life, peace and justice and most importantly, work together for the common good.

Music was provided by Mike Gallagher and Noah Pepmeyer. Div. 21 donated a coffee basket, which was raffled off along with other baskets donated by various divisions, with proceeds benefiting the Allegheny County Board. Div. 21 member Mary Ann Raymer assisted with the basket raffle.

The Ladies throughout the Commonwealth have been working in the Spirit of Brigid, assisting in their neighborhoods, across the state and nation, and in Ireland.

Many Divisions do charity work monthly and quarterly through donations and hands-on work.

Division 1, Molly Maguires donated various items to Friends of Animals, an animal shelter; Division 2 Pottsville donated blankets; Division 61 provides Catholic education scholarships and held a sock drive; Division 5 Bucks County volunteers often at the Delaware Valley Veterans Home, and Division 1 Lehigh continues with Fran's Purse Project and Mats for the Homeless.

In the proud Spirit of St. Brigid, Pennsylvania Divisions came together for the 2nd Annual St Brigid Tea at the Commodore Barry Arts and Cultural Center in Philadelphia.

The tea, with the keynote speaker, Consul General Helena Nolan, honored St. Brigid's legacy of inspiring others, advocating for the vulnerable, assisting when needed, and encouraging all of us to do as Brigid would, "Be more Brigid"!

In both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, Ladies gathered to listen and support author Peadar Thompson as he presented his new book, Lost Gaels: Remembering the Members of the GAA Killed During the Conflict in Ireland.

On Wednesday, February 19, 2025, LAOH, Division 1, Brevard County hosted sisters from the new St. Augustine Division and our Sebastian sisters, Indian River Division, for a luncheon/meeting in Melbourne, Florida. Florida State President Louise Sullivan was in attendance.

Acting President Eileen Chandler welcomed our guests and Father John Bosco Maison of Ascension Catholic Church offered the blessing before the meal. During dessert and coffee our Historian Nancy Demers shared a story about Ireland, the Blasket Islands, Christmas past and the importance of traditions over wealth.

It was an outstanding event exemplifying sisterhood and our Motto. Great fun and fellowship!

It was the luck of the Irish for the Ladies of the Annette M. Byrne Division #1 of Kent County. They were blessed with great weather for the 46th Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade on March 16th in downtown Grand Rapids, Michigan. One of the main sponsors was the local AOH group. The morning started with several members meeting for breakfast at the Tupelo Honey and 30 people represented the LAOH at the parade. Division member, Judy Doyle rode in the parade as "The Spirit of Ireland" honoree. She gave a speech at the end of the parade, along with the Grand Marshall. Judy invited the Irish Catholic women to join our wonderful LAOH division and had applications on hand. She explained the motto of our group and put in a plug for a fundraiser starting the following week at the local Russ' restaurants that give 20% of their proceeds to our division, which in turn gives all of the money to the St. Gianna's baby pantry. Several of our members participated in the fundraiser that week by gathering at Russ' for lunch or taking friends and family to dinner. Judy's speech ended with advertising the annual Blackthorn concert, their Division's major fundraiser with proceeds going to HELP Pregnancy in Grand Rapids. The concert is scheduled for October 25, 2025. Judy said she felt honored to be chosen and we thought it was a fitting choice, because she embodies the "Spirit of Ireland for our LAOH Division too! Congratulations Judy Doyle!

The Rose Kennedy Division hosted the band, the Bold O'Donoghues who played at the AOH Fish Fry on January 24th. Nineteen division members attended for delicious food and lively entertainment.

Joan O'Halloran, a member of The Rose Kennedy Division was Grand Marshall of the Detroit St. Patrick's Day Parade. This inspired division members Jennifer Nagrant and Denise Bastien to build a division float for the parade. The float was made with the support of the Catherine McAuley division's counties of Ireland panels and the efforts of the float committee, including Sharon Gallagher, Denise's husband, Jennifer's father and Dan Murphy. Four sisters were on the float and others marching. At the grandstand, Joan O'Halloran came down and gave each sister a heartfelt "kiss o'the Irish." The Rose Kennedy Division always has their annual basket raffle in March with the drawing held on St. Patrick's evening. There was a Family basket, Irish basket, Spirits basket and a gift card tree. Proceeds from the raffle go to the Columban Fathers and sisters.

Winter has found the Catherine McAuley Division very busy with activities that always encompass the LAOH motto of Friendship, Unity and Christian Charity. Their Christmas dinner was held on Wednesday, Dec. 18th. Members had a wonderful time sharing Christmas cheer at the Hip Cat Restaurant. In January they hosted a “Resin Pour Workshop” where members and guests created lovely items out of pour resin. Thanks to Maggie Cytacki and her committee for organizing this fun event which resulted in many resin shamrocks! In February members attended the Michigan State Board “St Brigid’s Mass. The Mass was organized by their Division member, Peggy Gray, who serves as State Catholic Action. On March 16th their Division proudly marched in the 67th Detroit St. Patrick’s Parade. The theme this year was “Detroit Irish – A Charitable Legacy of Friendship, Loyalty and Love.” On St. Patrick’s Day members gathered for Mass at the AOH Hall, followed by a day, long celebration of St. Patrick. Their “Paint & Pizza” party, an annual event where attendees become “artists” is a sold out event. The division will again be staffing a “Tea Room” at the St. Patrick’s Senior Center Spring Festival. This center supports needy senior citizens residing in the inner city of Detroit.

To celebrate Irish Heritage for the month of March, the Ethel Kennedy Division put a display of Irish items in the St. Clare Shore Library. Included in the display were: Waterford crystal., Belleek China, an Irish Dance costume, Arran sweater and scarf, books and videos and a bust of Fr. Solanus Casey. The division did this display in the Roseville library for many years until covid. Now they are up and running again. They also displayed information on LAOH for anyone interested in becoming a member. Many visitors to the library stopped to admire the lovely items. They also received phone calls of congratulations on the grand display. In April they will be collecting food items to be donated to St. Anne’s in Clarkston in the name of their beloved member Doris McCarville who passed away on New Year’s Day 2025. The items will be used to fill Easter Baskets for needy families.
